WIN: The first president of Milwaukee's Crime Stoppers

Long-time member Michael has recently stepped up and has accepted the role as president for his local branch of Crime Stoppers, thus making it the 48th community in Wisconsin to offer the program. In fact, he is one of the founders and advocates for the program. Not only is Michael committing his time to the program, the Hupy and Abraham law firm has committed more than $5,000. Crime Stoppers is a national program comprised of volunteers who aid law enforcement in the fight against crime.

The program encourages witnesses to anonymously come forward without having any interaction with the police. Because the program consists of volunteers, the community needs people like Michael, a community leader who truly wishes to keep the citizens of Milwaukee safe. Here's what Michael had to say about taking on the role during a press conference, "I'm proud to serve as President of Milwaukee Crime Stoppers. We have far too much unsolved crime in Milwaukee. People with information can receive rewards for anonymously giving tips to Crime Stoppers." Well done, Michael, communities need more people like you.
